Miguel "Anga" Diaz (1961-2006) will be remembered as one of the greatest congueros of all time for his remarkable soloing and multiple conga/percussion inventions. In this exclusive DVD masterclass, Anga demonstrates many of the systems and forms he uses to develop dexterous patterns, riffs, and solos. Each example is demonstrated in a solo context, then in a duet performance. In the Marcha, Guaguanco, and Soloing sections, Anga reveals his incomparable patterns and variations on five congas. Duet performances with virtuoso Cuban pianist Gabriel Hernandez help illustrate Anga's ideas while he breaks down his soloing phrases, playing each slowly and explaining the origin of each riff. Anga continues with the Mixing Styles sections, overdubbing three layers of different drumming styles and mixing funk with the Cuban rhythms Pilon and Batumbata. Anga also demonstrates how congas can bring an organic feel to the DJ-based styles in duets with DJ Gilb-R and an improvised trio segment featuring Anga playing his "Set Cubano," mixing congas, bells, and drums with both his hands and feet to create a phenomenal flow of rhythms.

This new young adult novel uses diary entries and vivid poems to show one young woman's personal journey through family tragedy. Twelve-year-old Anga Freedom can't help but beam when her aunt Ky gets her an early dismissal from school. Her mother is about to have a baby, and Anga is about to become a big sister! But when Anga arrives at the hospital, she is devastated to learn the truth. Her mother has suffered a miscarriage. What was meant to be a day of celebration turns into one of grief. It isn't the only dark day ahead for the twelve-year-old. Not long after the family tragedy, Anga's mother is diagnosed with oral cancer. Anga moves in with her grandmother as her mother begins treatment. She knows that this is supposed to help her mother rest and recover, but she can't help feeling frustrated and isolated because of the distance. At the same time, Anga is ill equipped to handle seeing her mother in such a delicate state. She will have to discover new ways of supporting her mother and coping with a new life full of hospital visits, doctor's appointments, and difficult moments.

Bharatha Natyam is a classical dance style from Southern India that is practiced as an interpretive storytelling dance. The ashta anga are the eight principles behind yoga practices, as described in the text of Yogasutra by Patanjali. By linking the ashta anga principles of yoga with the practice of Bharatha Natyam, this book proposes that the latter be understood as Bharatha Natya Yoga. Hermeneutic inquiry draws from several texts of Indian dance & yoga - such as Yogasutra and Natyasastra, while the author uses an engaging narrative style of writing to describe the multifaceted phenomenon of dancing. The narrative describes the author's perspective as a researcher with a lifetime of dancing experiences while heuristic inquiry offers an embodied reference for the concept of rasa. The hermeneutic inquiry provides an understanding of the experience of rasa as it relates to the concept of samadhi, a goal of ashta anga yoga. Despite its long history, it is important that Bharatha Natyam does not become limited to an entertainment or storytelling form. This book seeks to re-claim its essence and re-present it as Bharatha Natya Yoga.

Early 16th Century AD: Ibrahim Lodhi is ruling in north India. Raja Krishna Deva Raya's powerful Vijayanagara empire is spread all over south India.AD 1510: Maabali, a cute monkey lad of 4 years, is brought to Rishi Sarvashring's Gurukul in the Himalayas. His simian parents reside in the Rishyamukh Parvat in the ancient kingdom of Kishkinda. Garu, hailing from Kaali Gufa in the great Ahom kingdom (present day Assam) also joins. Garu's father, king of eagles, is the chief of the Airborne Division of the eminent Ahom king Shungmung Swarganarayan.AD 1525: Maabali and Garu finish Gurukul studies. They visit Ram Janambhoomi temple at Ayodhya, and retrace the route of Rama and Sita upto Kishkinda. Maabali weds Vitaara at Rishyamukh Parvat. Garu sets up his own Gurukul at Kaali Gufa.AD 1527: Defeating Ibrahim Lodhi in the first battle of Panipat, Babur establishes the Mughal empire. Ram Janambhoomi temple is demolished and Babri Masjid built over it.AD 1550: Anga is born with three tails and gold ornaments. Joining Garu Gurukul, Anga, Ora, HooHoo, Gado, Daku, and Pilu argue who is best amongst Indrajit, Abhimanyu and Ghatotkacha; explore caves and climb stalagmites; trade forest produce with village grocers; learn KaTaPaYa encryption codes. Daku lights Gado's copious farts to generate energy. AD 1565: Garu Sir takes them on inter-planetary travel to Bhadraklok, for 45 days' meditation, opening up the Anja Chakra, through which immense knowledge floods in. Back after 45 days, Anga is shocked to know 450 years have elapsed on Earth. AD 2015: Village grocers are dead. Descendants complain that 40' Pomty River Company has destroyed indigenous kirana business with its mobile App. Meditating for a solution, Anga realizes Shunya is not the simplified ZERO. It is the zero-sum cosmic eternity containing all things and their opposites, paving the way to GOD.Sep 2015: Anga goes to WI's Best Institute of Management to get a grocery App written for kiranawalas. Parin Doctor agrees, provided Anga ensures an 'A+' grade for all MBA freshers in the dreaded Written & Oral Communications (WOC) assignment, where none ever scored even a 'C'. In this book, cultural anthropologist Moya A. Malamusi gives readers a rare inside vision of the personalities and healing practices of traditional asing'anga (healers) in Malawi, south-east Africa. His account is based on over thirty years of participant field experience. In this study, the world views and methods of healers become directly accessible through field interviews transcribed in Chichewa and translated with annotations on terminology.

Iron Age of India... around 900 B.C.E. Born in the arms of the Ganga, Vasu grew up in the raging province of Anga. His life shaped by a fate that failed to be just--neglected by his own, stripped of his birthright--he was raised to be lost in an abyss of desires and disappointment. Cursed by his guru, hurt by the only woman he loved, ostracised from society for being the son of a suta. With his only armour--hope--he ventured on an unforgettable journey. Alone. This is Vasu's tale of survival, of endurance, of abiding courage in the face of all adversities. And eventually, of blossoming into the greatest warrior of all time... KARNA. In an ultimate battle against his archenemy--the insidious, dishonourable and all-powerful, Jarasandha, for a title he knew he deserved. From a sutaputr to a leader of the people, this is a saga of betrayal, lost love, and glory. This is the story of the King of Anga.

the seventh anga of the Jain canon

Genealogy of Fusipala Tou'anga of Kolomotu'a, Tongatapu, Tonga. The Human Commonwealth of Worlds had colonized their small corner of the galaxy for almost four centuries before an intelligent non-human species was encountered. During that time hundreds of stellar systems were settled in an effort to spread life out into the Great Void, creating a thriving culture shared by flesh and blood people and machine minds known as Artificials, vast intellects that opened the way to the stars for the Human species. The economics of scarcity and want are ancient history, and illness and old age have been banished. The Commonwealth is a civilization at peace with itself, but it is all Humanity knows. Like many citizens of the Commonwealth the crew of the probeship William Bartram has come to believe Humanity is alone in the galaxy. Then they meet the Leyra'an. In that encounter they find an unsettling mystery, for the Leyra'an are so similar to Humans that it defies both science and belief. But before the crew of the probeship can investigate this mystery, there is a darker and far more dangerous matter before them. Someone else met the Leyra'an first, and started a war.
